HOW TO TRY ON YOUR GOWNS:

Please take off your makeup so you don't get lipstick or foundation on the gowns.

Putting the gowns on:

For fitted gowns - we recommend that you step into the gown.

For a-line and ballgowns - we recommend that you step into gowns that fit or are too big. For gowns that are too small, we recommend putting them on over your head.

Fitting the dresses to you:

Since you are trying on sample gowns, it is likely that some or all of the gowns will need help to fit you properly.

There are three key areas to pay attention to when fitting a gown: the bust, waist and hips. Make sure the dress is sitting at your natural waist and aligned properly on your bust. For fitted gowns, you will want to make sure you pull in the hips at the back to show off your curves!

Clips have been included in your packet and may be supplemented by clips you have at home, such as chip bag clips, clamps, etc. that are clean and have no rough edges.

A short video tutorial is available on our website:

The best help you can get, however, is an extra pair of hands! We realize this is tricky, especially if it's only you and your partner at home. While it is tradition for your partner not to see your dress before the wedding, we recommend thinking of this as a special opportunity to make another wedding memory if you don't have another friend or family member to help!

CHOOSING YOUR GOWN:

We wish we could be here with you! They make the decision look so easy on TV ("when you know you know") but sometimes it's really not! You're probably going to end up liking two or three dresses, and the trick is figuring out which one is The Dress and which are just pretty dresses.

Our best advice: remember that your wedding gown is going to give you all the feelings that you want your wedding day to embody. So take a moment in each dress to set aside the details and feel the bigger picture: does this gown make me feel... romantic, whimsical, sensual, fun, flirty, etc.

TAKE LOTS OF PICTURES in your gown, including detail photos of how it fits from the side and the back. This will help us with sizing!

WHAT'S NEXT:

Use our measurement sheet to take your measurements and send us a photo of the measurement sheet before you pack it up with your packet to return with the courier.

Fill out our online feedback/order request form to let us know which gown you'd like to purchase and how you liked your overall experience with our Concierge Bridal appointments (whether or not you are purchasing a gown).

Once the dresses are back in the store and have been processed, we will call you to finalize sizing and your sale over the phone. You can give us good times to call in the feedback/order request form. (This form can also be found on the Concierge Bridal page of our website.)
